“After completing the online form on 3RNet, representatives from my preferred states contacted me and discussed my choices. Natalie in Washington coordinated my job search and found the best matches. I am going to interview with two clinics/hospitals and the chances are high that I join one of them. Big thanks to 3RNet.

– Ajmal Kazman, MD

“I found all kinds of information by following your recommendation to look at 3RNet! Thank you! Thanks so much.”

– Catherine Robinson, Physician Assistant

“I received e-mails from at least 20 agencies asking when they could set up an interview...I was amazed I would hear from so many opportunities so quickly!”

– Sarah Schroeder, nursing student

“I have to tell you that your site brought out by far the most and most serious candidates.”

– Harriet Burris MD, Medical Director, River Hospital, Alexandria Bay, New York

“We use 3RNet and the Alaskan Exposure SEARCH program as our primary recruitment tools for finding candidates.”

– Sonja Handforth-Kome, Executive Director, Iliuliuk Family and Health Services, Inc., Unalaska/Dutch Harbor, Alaska

If you are a doctor, dentist, nurse practitioner, physician assistant, registered nurse, mental health provider, or other health professional, you want a position that fits your needs professionally and personally.

If you are a medical center, you want to fill much-needed positions quickly and efficiently, and retain these staff members. It’s a matter of health for your patients.

That’s where the National Rural Recruitment and Retention Network for Healthcare Professionals comes into play.

It’s time consuming for job applicants and costly for communities to recruit. Making the best decision is critical for all.

The National Rural Recruitment Retention Network (3RNet) is composed of non-profit organizations that help health professionals find practices in rural and under-served areas throughout the country.

Our members are State Offices of Rural Health, AHECs, Cooperative Agreement Agencies and Primary Care Associations that help match candidate and community needs.

3RNet members have information on rural and urban under-served areas and assist health care professionals and their families identify resources. We want to meet your personal and professional goals.

3RNet provides these services:
- Information on Federal, State and Local Loan Forgiveness Programs and other financial incentives
- Information about communities, lifestyle concerns and practices
- An understanding of the healthcare environment because we live and work in communities of interest to you
- Coordination of meaningful site visits
- Advice on the recruitment process
- Help finding the best match for your professional interests
